MAY LIMIT TRADING OF FOREIGNERS

Roosevelt Fearful of Effect Of Heavy Buying of U.S. Securities

FORESEES DANGER OF UNSETTLED CURRENCY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (P).—With foreign investors holding huge quantities of American securities, President Roosevelt today termed such accumulations a dangerous factor and ordered a study of methods for avoiding any unsettling consequences.

The Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury were requested to seek—by legislation, if necessary—methods of controlling foreign purchases of domestic stocks and bonds, and of meeting, in orderly fashion, any situation arising from the sudden sale of foreign-owned shares.

Officials, including Chairman James M. Landis, of the Securities Commission, made clear that the recent activity of the stock market, carrying many issues to post-depression highs, was an important influence-motivating the move.

CURRENCY STABILITY

Mr. Roosevelt said that his first concern was to keep the currencies of the principal nations relatively

TWO-DAY VISIT TO FLEET ENDS

His Majesty Completes Thorough Inspection of Warships at Portland

PORTLAND, England, Nov. 13 (P).—The King today completed a thorough inspection of the home fleet, ranging from mighty battleships down to sleek submarines.

Concluding his two-day visit, he signalled "spike the main brace." Even the greatest of landlubbers knew that meant an issue of rum all round. The home fleet tonight accordingly drank the King's health in obedience to the royal command.

A royal salute of twenty-one guns was fired as the King went ashore at Weymouth.

REDS CONGRATULATIONS

His Majesty also sent the following message from the royal yacht Victoria and Albert: "To all ships of the home fleet and shore establishments at Portland from His Majesty the King: I wish to express to the flag officers and the commanding officers my satisfaction with all I have seen. The appearance of the ships and men was admirable. I congratulate you all."

A royal salute of twenty-one guns was fired as the King went ashore at Weymouth.

CHEERED BY CREWS

The King travelled ashore in the Commander-in-Chief's barge. As the barge went by, the Royal Guard and bands on the yacht and on all the other big ships he passed, cheered. The barge moved slowly through the harbor. The ship's companies lined up on the upper decks, cheered. The King wore the undress uniform of an admiral of the fleet.

Expect Balbo Will Go to Berlin as Envoy for Italy

Achille Starace, general secretary of the Fascist party, will succeed Balbo in the African post, it was said.

FIST FIGHTS IN CHAMBER

Fifty Deputies Engage in Battle on Floor of French House

PARIS, Nov. 13 (CP-Havas).—After a tumultuous session during which fifty deputies fought, kicked one another and shouted on the floor of the House, the Chamber of Deputies today cleared Interior Minister Roger Salengro of charges he was a Great War deserter, and also voted confidence in the Popular Front Government.

When angry spirits had cooled down, Premier Blum had asserted such partisan quarrels hurt France's name abroad, the chamber voted 427 to 103 to clear Salengro and 374 to 201 expressing confidence in the Government.

SUSPENSE SESSION

With the chamber transformed into a maelstrom of struggling, kicking men, Chairman Edouard Herriot suspended the session until attendants and cooler-minded deputies had separated the angry partisans.

The uproar started with assertions by Rightist Deputy Henri Becquart that Salengro was a known anti-militarist before the war and that all witnesses at his court-martial on desertion charges had declared his guilt.

Blum and Defence Minister Edouard Daladier strongly defended their cabinet colleague. Salengro also denied the charges.

TEN-MINUTE BATTLE

Socialists left their benches and started through the upper aisles of the semi-circle for the Rightists. Both sides clashed in the centre of the chamber.

ASKS LEAGUE TO CLARIFY CLAUSE

Belgium Wants to Know What Help Attacked Member Nations Could Expect

GENEVA, Nov. 13 (P).—Belgium asked the League of Nations today to be specific on what help an attacked member nation "could count on." In a note, she demanded clarification of the League Covenant, particularly the article applying to sanctions against an aggressor.

(Her action followed on the recent statement of Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Henry Spaak that Belgium could not feel completely safe through sole dependence on the League.)

Belgium declared the League Covenant should be reinterpreted so that all nations would join, but said it believed amendment was unnecessary.

PROCLAIMS DAY OF NATIONAL THANKSGIVING

Ask for Commission To Examine Charges Made by Accountant

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13 (P).—Less than four days after W. A. Tucker, police department accountant, submitted his ninety-five-page report on police activities in Vancouver, the city's police commission today asked for Tucker's dismissal and asked that a special commission be appointed to investigate charges contained in the report.

The commission met to consider recommendations of County Court Judge J. N. Ellis and Police Magistrate H. B. Wood, who were appointed to study the report before it was made public. The resolutions it adopted were those of the two jurists, without modification.

This unbroken stream of fire flowing down the famous Unter den Linden, in Berlin, was the tribute paid by the Nazi party to Dr. Joseph Goebbels, German Minister of Propaganda, on the tenth anniversary of his appointment as Nazi leader of Berlin. More than 100,000 members of the party participated in the parade.

Says Strengthened British Navy and Support of U.S. Will Assure World Peace

Sir Samuel Hoare Outlines Trend of Naval Rearmament Programme

LONDON, Nov. 13 (CP-Havas).—The British Government is building up its naval strength so some day soon the British fleet, supported "by the other great naval power" (presumably the United States), will assure world peace, Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, declared in a broadcast tonight.

Carrying the debate on Britain's defence policy beyond the confines of Parliament, Sir Samuel outlined the general trend of the country's naval plans. He disposed of the argument as to whether ships or planes are the superior fighting arm by declaring the navy, instead of developing rivalry, will stress ever-increasing co-operation between the two services.

Province to Ask Further Loan at Ottawa Shortly

Budget Debate Ends, as Legislature Votes $9,000,000 in First of Estimates for Next Fiscal Year—Forest Conservation Pledged, With Measures to Insure Regeneration

PREMIER Pattullo brought the five-day budget debate to a close in the British Columbia Legislature at 10:30 o'clock last evening with the announcement that the Government would make representations in person at Ottawa immediately after the session closes for a capital loan to this Province. The House moved at once into committee on supply, and voted $9,000,000 in two minutes, for the public debt and for legislation.

RUMANIA WILL RESIST ATTACK

Austro-Hungarian Rearming Brings Vehement Declaration by Minister

VIENNA, Nov. 13 (P).—A warning that any attempt by Hungary to regain the lost lands of her war-carved domain would be met by resistance, came tonight from Ion Inculea, Rumanian minister without portfolio.

"Our borders are eternal," he declared, during a frontier demonstration at the Rumanian city of Oradea Mare. "Never will we give up a hand's breadth of Rumanian territory."

FEAR RESURRECTION

Inculea's statement, aligned with Rumanian fears of an attempted "resurrection" of the once-powerful Austro-Hungarian dual monarchy, followed the new tri-power accord, backed by Italy, proclaiming Austro-Hungarian "fight to rearm."

In some quarters, the belief was expressed that remilitarization might be the first step toward an attempt to restore Austro-Hungary to its pre-war territorial status.

The semi-official Austrian press, however, scoffed at such fears. It declared no one had anything to fear from "moderate" rearmament, and that the new protocol would actually guarantee peace.

FLOODS HALT RAIL TRAFFIC

Bridges and Roadbeds on C.N.R. Line in North Endangered by Water

PRINCE RUPERT, Nov. 13 (P).—Bridges and railway roadbeds were in danger of destruction today as roaring rivers and streams between them and Terrace, B.C., tied up Canadian National Railways transportation.

No passenger trains are expected until Monday, but a way freight will be dispatched Saturday morning. It will proceed as far as possible probably to Uak, and will return there.

APPROACH WASHED AWAY

Railway crews were at work today repairing damage. At Fiddler Creek, twenty-five miles north of Terrace, a bridge approach was washed away but officials hope to have the line repaired by Saturday night.

This picture, made from a Royal Air Force plane, shows a Danish steamer lying high on the rocks in the Firth of Forth, Scotland, where she was tossed by a big storm last winter. ## STATES GOVT OBLIGATIONS

Alan Chambers Says Federal Scheme for Employing Youth Similar to B.C.

The Federal Government does not owe every young man a job, but the country should provide opportunities for work and prepare young men for employment, according to Alan Chambers, chairman of the National Youth Employment Committee, who visited Victoria yesterday. Mr. Chambers, after conferring with Provincial Government officials, left last night for Nanaimo. From there he will go to Vancouver, thence back to Ottawa.

In the committee's first report, which has been accepted by the National Employment Commission, and is now before the Federal Cabinet, national measures designed to fit young men for useful employment resemble the British Columbia programme, including training in mining, forestry and physical education. This scheme calls for immediate action.

SECOND REPORT
"The committee is very hopeful that action will follow along the lines recommended," Mr. Chambers stated. "It is now busy preparing plans for a policy with a longer range." The chairman reported committee members were enthusiastic and were doing fine work. "The most acute problem is that of the youths from eighteen to twenty-five years of age," he said. "We compute that there are 175,000 young men between those ages who are unemployed in Canada today. Many of these have never had any regular employment and the problem is further accentuated by the accumulation of those who have not been employed within the last three years. The market for employment is ever increasing, but the demand is for skilled or at least semi-skilled labor."

DIRECTORS CHOSEN BY CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY
Members of the C.W.S. Co-operative Society held their first meeting since incorporation, on Thursday night at the new store at 1318 Government Street, afterwards adjourning to the Eagles' Hall.

Over thirty members were present and heard the reports of the provisional directors, who were present and were introduced by the chairman, W. E. Peirce. The provisional directors reported that good progress was being made in securing new members, and submitted a satisfactory financial statement.

Balancing for directors was held, and the following were elected: W. E. Peirce, C. W. Peirce, A. P. Rayme, David Peirce, Mesdames J. E. Hudson and A. J. A. Bell, and Miss D. Nesbitt.

Plans were made for the formation of a women's guild and the holding of frequent meetings of a social character.

PRaises WORK OF MINISTERS
Thomas King, M.P.P., outlines accomplishments of Patten Cabinet
A brief outline of the work and accomplishments of the various Cabinet ministers in the Patten Government was given last night by Thomas King, M.P.P., for Columbia, in address to Ward One Liberal Association last night. Mr. King also touched on the Mothers' Pension Act and the need of co-ordination between the provinces of the Dominion so that a wider right to the pension in one province would not forfeit her right by moving to another province.

Mr. King mentioned it was unfair for one to go into an art exhibition and offhand declare a like or dislike for a certain example of creative art. It would be, he stated, unjustifiable criticism and of little value unless the critic was prepared to understand the idea the artist intended to present.

Following the main part of the lecture, Mr. Tauber informally discussed a number of the various forms of art and also explained the meaning of some of his own paintings.

GIVES VIEWS ON CUTTING CITY TIMBER

J. E. Lierch, Expert on Selective Logging, Favors Sooke Area Scheme

CLAIMS NO DANGER TO WATER SUPPLY

At the final meeting of the private bills committee of the Legislature, at which the cutting of timber on the city's Sooke Lake watershed will be considered before the committee decides upon its report to the House on the subject, J. E. Lierch, the expert who passed upon the project for D. P. Garrison, who has tendered his application to do selective logging on the watershed, presented his views yesterday.

He supported the position taken on Thursday by another expert, Gordon Godwin, who went over the ground with him and decided that there was no endangering of the run-off from the watershed by allowing selective logging as proposed. Mr. Lierch had been with the Crown-Willamette Company in Oregon for three and one-half years.

NO EXTRA RISK
To S. S. McKee, M.P.P., the expert said that there would be no increase in the fire risk in the cutting of the timber as proposed, if the work was carried on properly, as it would be.

In this connection, Mr. Lierch pointed out it was necessary to carry on under a flexible scheme in selective cutting. There would be changes from time to time as the work went on and as conditions altered. There were operations now being carried on under the name of selective logging which were not properly so designated.

From his examination, only about 1,400 acres of timbered area in the watershed would be logged over. There was in that only about 5 or 10 per cent of over-mature fir trees on the stand. If these were cut out, there would be left in its place a growing stand.

DISPOSAL OF SLASH
To H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, the expert stated that there would be no leeway enough under the contract to allow for the safe disposal of the slash that was created.

Mr. Pringle offered the correction that there was no contract. There had been specifications drawn up and but one tender was received. No contract had been entered into.

LIMITED AREA
To Byron Johnson, M.P.P., Mr. Lierch said that there was only about 5 or 10 per cent of the area over which it would be worth while to log. The remainder was small scrubby timber, growing on a rocky watershed. The timber taken off the really timbered part would have no injurious effect on the run-off, he asserted.

As to piles, the expert stated that there were some cedar piles located along the creeks in the area. To the city water commissioner, G. M. Irwin, the expert said that the soil over the watershed was gravelly where it was not rock. He declared that the cutting off of the mature timber would be followed by the run-off being increased.

This concluded the taking of evidence by the committee, with the exception of the filing of certain information by E. V. Finland as solicitor for the right to cut timber under the selective logging system.

Blind Organist Tells Own Story

Dr. Alfred Hollins, the world-famous blind organist and composer, has recently written the story of his own life, according to an announcement by Blackwood & Company, the Edinburgh publishers. This will be a unique interest to Victoria musicians, as Dr. Hollins visited Victoria during his recent tour of Canada and the United States, from October, 1925, to March, 1926.

It will be remembered that Dr. Hollins' recent tour place at the Metropolitan United Church, on Thanksgiving Day, November 9, 1925, and that the attendance was a record, more than 1,200 of an audience on that occasion. He improved on this, as submitted by J. D. Macey and G. J. Burnett, in addition to a programme of organ solo.

In this book, a chapter describes the visit to Victoria and some of the people he met, notably Mrs. Gertrude Huntly Green, the pianist whose playing he praises very highly.

Other chapters deal with his school days and student days, all vividly told in Hollins' own inimitable style. His Canadian tour is described in several chapters and the meeting with many noted music clubs in the larger cities. Other chapters deal with his appointment to his present church, St. George's West Church, in Edinburgh, also his South African and Australian tours. The title of the book is "A Blind Musician Looks Back."

Olaf Hanson, M.P., States B.C. Not To Be Overlooked

British Columbia's representation in the Federal House is keenly alert to the interests of the province and has the good ear of the Government, announced Olaf Hanson, M.P., for Skeena, on his arrival here yesterday.

"British Columbia will get her full share, I feel sure," stated Mr. Hanson. "Her representatives are just as efficient as those of other provinces."

The member spoke optimistically regarding the future and reported conditions much improved in the East. His visit to Victoria held no special significance at this time, he said.

CIVIC HEARING IS CONCLUDED

Private Bills Committee to Consider Recommendation in Injunction Case

The private bills committee of the Legislature yesterday heard final representations regarding Legislative action towards relieving Mayor Leeming and Alderman P. R. Brown from a court injunction granted by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald on petition of John Day. The committee will now consider the matter and make such recommendation as it sees fit.

Before the matter was closed by the committee, some sharp criticisms from opposing sides were quickly silenced by L. A. Hanna, M.P.P., chairman of the committee.

REPUTATION ACTION
Frank Graham said he represented the Ratepayers' Association and argued the Mayor and Alderman Brown were acting only as the appointees of the City Council when they assumed the position of delegates on a financial tour to London. The Ratepayers' Association, stated Mr. Graham, had condemned the action of John Day, whose course was only prompted by vindictiveness, he remarked.

If such a course as taken was to be pursued, it would become impossible to get decent representatives on the council when "snipers" were to be expected.

TAKES OBJECTION
At this stage the speaker was interrupted by Mr. D. V. protesting against the use of "snipers."

The chairman explained the word "snipers" was used in a general sense and not a special one. It was used to indicate both parties out of order and closed the matter to public discussion.

DEFENCE IS IMPERATIVE

Necessity for Protection of Canada's Coasts Stressed at Defence League Meet

Absolute necessity for the improvement of Canadian facilities for defence—not as preparation for aggressive activities, but as essential protection for the Dominion—was stressed in two thoughtful and intensely earnest addresses delivered at the Defence of Canada League meeting last night in the Campbell Building, Bishop G. E. Lloyd, who had recently returned from Great Britain, and R. D. Harvey were the main speakers of the evening, the former declaring that the feeling that he encountered in England was that another world war was fast approaching. It was felt that this would not only be fought in Europe but on the Pacific as well. Mr. Harvey dealt primarily with the importance of protective measures being taken now, and contribute to the public-announced intention of the Federal Government to give greater consideration to defence problems.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Harvey said that as a Canadian whose people had been in the Dominion for three generations, he spoke as a citizen who was only anxious to see Canada prepared to protect herself from the horrors of war. He pleaded earnestly that in a matter of such vital consequences to the nation, citizens should lay aside all partisan and sectional prejudices, should give sympathetic support to the militia and consider only the national good.

STUDYING PROBLEM
The Government at Ottawa had made known to the public that serious study was being given to defensive measures, and particularly for the Pacific Coast. In former times there had been an inclination in the East to consider protective measures were only necessary on the Atlantic, but gradually the older provinces were coming to realize that the problem was equally if not more acute on the Pacific side of Canada.

It behooved the people of Canada to see that the money for defence was spent well, and it was for them to accept the official recommendation of experts as to manner in which defensive measures were constructed. All local and sectional jealousies should be avoided. He reviewed the association throughout history in various countries of good highways to military protection, and citing one country said how construction of such highways had been a means of increasing employment.

In urging sympathetic support for the militia, Mr. Harvey stressed the value of training in the development of citizenship.

He gave as his personal opinion that not only should Canada develop defence, but that plans for such development should be in keeping with Imperial protective measures.

BRITISH VIEW
Bishop Lloyd referred to the fact that he had lived for fifty-five years in Canada, thirty-four of which had been on the Prairies. His recent visit to England, therefore, gave him an opportunity of viewing affairs with a fresh viewpoint.

One thing that had been impressed upon him of recent years was the small percentage of Anglo-Saxons in the total of immigration to Canada. He thought that greater effort should be made to increase immigration from the British Isles rather than permit a predominance of non-British immigrants from Europe.

He found in the Old Country that the public was paying 25 per cent of its income in taxes—and uncompromisingly, for it was realized that in the present state of affairs that armament was essential to protection. He learned of the great increase being made in the British Air Force and of other arms of the services. This was regarded by the British taxpayer not as war—but as an assurance of peace.

It was common talk in England, he found to his surprise, that several nations were believed to be regarding Canada with envious and eager eyes, and he heard it suggested that in the event of certain possible international combinations that were regarded as being more or less probable, that the Dominion might be the price of peace if the Empire was involved. There was a feeling that another world war was not far distant. The comforting thought, however, was that the general opinion in England was that Great Britain was making no commitments that would require the sending of troops from England to Europe.

NOT POLITICAL

Adequate defence, he declared, was not an affair for political partisanship. It was the protection of Canada and the Empire.

Following the main addresses there was a general discussion.

The secretary and other officials reported a fine increase in membership, and general strengthening of the organization.

Captain N. E. Fairweather, president of the league, acted as chairman.

stable, in pursuance of the current "gentlemen's agreement" between Great Britain, France and the United States.

Foreign investors, he said, furnished a most important power in the purchasing of stocks, and if such purchases were carried beyond a certain point a dangerous situation resulted.

DANGEROUS TO ALL

The accumulation of large security holdings in one nation by another, he said in summary, is a dangerous thing, not only to the currency of that nation but to everybody else's.

At the same time, it developed that the Securities Commission has been keeping a day-to-day check upon foreign purchases via domestic exchanges, including the making of origin of all orders and the name of the security purchaser.

Italian Commanders Admit Starting War As One of Conquest

Marshal Emilio de Bono, in Book of Memoirs, With Preface Written by Mussolini, Shows His Country as the Aggressor

ROME, Nov. 13 (P).—Memoirs of Marshal Emilio de Bono, Italian commander at the start of the Ethiopian War, showed Italy today as the aggressor in East Africa. Companion books by De Bono and Marshal Pietro Badoglio, who succeeded him during the latter stage of the war, were published simultaneously today. Both contained prefaces by Premier Mussolini.

De Bono showed that he and his Duce agreed on the war in the beginning of 1933 and immediately began their preparations.

WOULD NOT ATTACK

His book gave the telegram he sent to Mussolini saying that Emperor Haile Selassie would not attack and that the war must be begun by the Italians.

It showed that the Italo-Ethiopian War was one of conquest.

Foreign diplomats and correspondents, as well as many Italians, wondered that the De Bono book was permitted to appear with these revelations.

A FASCIST IDEA

Political circles said, however, it was Mussolini's desire that the world know the conquest of Ethiopia was a Fascist idea and did not originate with the regular army.

In his preface to Badoglio's book, Duce wrote:

"The war which was fought from October 3 to May 5 can rightly be called Fascist because it was conducted and won with the temperance, spirit of sacrifice, courage, and resistance surpassing human limitations."

MUSSOLINI'S PLANS

De Bono's book showed that the general staff could not claim the war was its victory because Mussolini took the officers into his confidence only after the preliminary plans were made.

Marshall Badoglio, chief of the general staff, commanded the army in its final victory, but declared he was proceeding on the strategy laid down by Mussolini and De Bono.

PROVINCE TO ASK FOR ANOTHER LOAN

Items of government in a province as isolated and of such scattered population as British Columbia admitted that the same machinery of government would serve a population twice as great. Non-partisan government had been tried prior to 1903 and had failed, he said. Liberal policies were working to the benefit of the province and were backed in the case of British Columbia by a determination to place the province on a better footing all around.

"From one end of Canada to the other we are accused of going too fast and too far in social legislation in British Columbia. That shows, however, that we are in the lead. It is nonsense to say this province is bankrupt. On one side we owe a debt of $182,000,000, but on the other side we have—British Columbia. This Government is going just as fast as it can within its resources, and we are not going to stop until conditions are better in British Columbia," the Premier declared.

A DRIPPING APPEAL

He referred to British Columbia representations to Ottawa as the constant dripping of water upon a stone, and predicted that the next appeal, to be made by himself and Hon. John Hart, in December, would bring results. A capital loan was sought, as the Province could not raise money on the open market at this time.

The Premier defended traveling expenses of himself and his colleagues, and declined to be drawn out as to when an election is intended. He said he did not know when the government would go to the country, but that it would not be "until some of the purposes for which we were elected have been carried out."

SUPPLY VOTED

In committee on estimates a few minutes later, the House voted $18,849,147 for the public debt, $104,650 for the Legislature and legislation, and certain votes for ministerial offices.

DEFENDS POLICIES

Lassoos Rider With Long Wiplash

Colonel Holman James (world famous as Colonel Fred Lindsay, the stock-whip king) lassoing Miss Nerina Shute with his whiplash while both are riding at high speed at the Colonel's home in Surrey. health of some 300,000 persons. Experts of the Government were carrying out a great preventive programme in the interests of the people, Dr. Weir continued.

In the schools, free dental and other services had been provided already for more than 1,000 children in the Peace River, and to some extent also in the Matsqui-Sumas consolidation in the Fraser Valley. The consolidation of schools had been beneficial, with a saving in costs which had been laid out again for new and better services all round. Consolidation would be continued, with $16,000 additional in current estimates for that purpose.

INCOME TAX FORMS

S. S. McKee (Lib. Point Grey) advocated Federal collection of British Columbia income taxes, to save one of the dual sets of forms, rebutted arguments by up-country members that Vancouver had been acquisitive in provincial affairs, and declared, finally, that the province had no intention of retiring $47,000,000 in debt maturing between 1936 and 1942, but would refund it as had been done successfully in the past.

The budget, he concluded, was the best one presented in the last seven years.

R. B. Swales (Soc. Cons. Delta) described municipal aid of $691,000 as inadequate, and told the House of the plight of small farmers in Surrey and nearby areas who were being gradually forced off the land. He advocated easement of highway traffic regulations in the interests of small independent operators, and asked representation for them on the highway traffic board.

Federal and provincial assistance would be necessary to repair dikes along the Fraser River, and British Columbia had built, up a debt of $180,000,000, and did not have much to show for it, Mr. Swales concluded.

GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED

The Government was sustained 31 to 11 by division on a want-of-confidence amendment introduced by Clive Planta (Independent, Peace River) and seconded by Ernest Bakewell (Soc. Cons. Mackenzie) at the morning sitting. The division followed straight party lines. Four members were heard in debate.

E. J. Kenney (Liberal, Skeena) reminded Vancouver members sharply that the bulk of the revenues of the Province come from industrial operations entirely outside of that community. Every fair minded person would concede that better conditions had come with enterprise, assisted, however, by Governmental policies wherever possible.

So far as the Government was concerned, the same revenues could not be spent on roads and also on sinking funds, and roads had had to be repaired. Rural ridings had been neglected in the past, while huge sums had been spent by the Province in and around Vancouver, Mr. Kenney concluded.

C. C. F. OFFICIAL PLATFORM Harold E. Winch (Vancouver East), one of three C. C. F. members in the House, told what that group would do if given the reins of power in British Columbia. The official C. C. F. platform proposed early state control and operation of the production and distribution of foodstuffs, agriculture, logging, mining, and liquor, with a transitional period before outright state ownership.

It would be said, distribute rationing, manufacture, beer, take over all forms of insurance, take over public utilities, and control the pension and set up a "provincial form of socialized finance" to distribute the wealth accruing from state controlled operations, including collectively owned farms in general.

There would be steeply graded income taxes, coupled with a pledge to raise the standard of living. A labor code would be instituted. Imports of agricultural products would be indirectly controlled. There would be more adult education and revision of the educational system. An advisory body would assist the Government in economic and legal matters. Co-operative societies would be encouraged and a system of initiative, referendum and recall brought in for elective offices, Mr. Winch continued.

All this, contended the member for Vancouver East, would require time. Meanwhile, he would urge the Province to bring bank employees and watchmen on railways and docks under control by the Industrial Relations Board, and make definite provision to return a total of $87,000,000 in net debt he said would become payable within the next six years, including treasury bills unfunded. The C. C. F. Mr. Winch concluded, were ready for an election.

Clive Planta (Independent, Peace River), before moving his want of confidence amendment in the budget debate, taxed the Administration with setting up a "union government" in that, he said, it had placed Labor in charge of labor, Social in charge of education, an agrarian in charge of agriculture, and had led a docile caucus through the hoops of political expediency.

It was, said Mr. Planta, a hybrid Administration, more narrowly so defined as a collecting agency than a Government. Liberals had pledged balanced budgets in 1902. Conservatives had promised forest conservation in 1909, but it would remain for a "new era of politics now arising" to bring these things about, he concluded.

Seconding the want of confidence amendment, Ernest Bakewell (Soc. Cons. Mackenzie) said that the province had made to preserve parliamentary institutions, in the light of what had transpired in recent years in British Columbia. An atmosphere of generally pervaded provincial affairs at the capital, with little relation to actual conditions of the province as a whole.

NO SOLUTIONS The Pattullo Administration had been in power for three years, and had produced no definite solution for any major problem yet, he contended. Rightly or wrongly, Alberta had had the courage to try to solve its problems, in contrast to inaction and inertia here, Mr. Bakewell concluded.

The amendment regretted inadequate assistance to the municipalities, lack of provision for young men and women, failure to bring about an economic distribution of seats in the Legislature, failure to act on beer and light wines, and many other asserted complaints, which Mr. Planta laid at the door of the present regime. It was voted down.

LABOR BRIEF Speaking at the evening sitting, Jack Price (Soc. Cons. Vancouver East), presented a brief for the British Columbia section of the Trades and Labor Congress urging universal application of health insurance laws and benefits; changes in the Workmen's Compensation Act, creation of a Provincial legislature, and several other matters.

Mr. Price urged an inquiry into liquor profits, and invited the Province to go into the manufacture of beer. The Liquor Board he declared was paying five shillings a case more for the same whiskies than were Washington State authorities. He commended restoration of civil service salaries, and urged prosecution of "loan sharks" in the city of Vancouver.

Tom Uphill (Labor, Fernie), decried removal of school boards at Mitchell and Kimberley and their replacement by official trustees. He urged reduction of military cons in Canada to apply at the age of sixty-five years, and made a general plea for more generous treatment for persons on relief. The Province, he said, had been possessing at the time of depression for years, with no more tangible result than to chip pieces of the teeth of the treasury. When the Province came to count persons of unsteady mind, it should add forty-seven to the number, Mr. Uphill hinted broadly.

The House rose at 10:37 p.m. until 10:30 a.m. today.

with the terms of his appointment to report on accusations made in the police department, nor does his report give us any assistance in so far as improvement of the existing system is concerned.

He has, however, filed a lengthy report in which he condemns the work of the police commission, Chief Constable Foster and other members of the force. He has also attacked a number of men not connected with the force.

OBVIOUS MISFIT

"It is obvious Mr. Tucker cannot in any way fit in to the present organization at the police station," the committee concluded. They recommended "his services be dispensed with."

The advisability of holding an investigation of allegations in the Tucker report will be considered at council sessions Monday.

Chief Constable Foster was given a unanimous vote of censure by the commission today after delegates from the Vancouver Police Association No. 12 said their organization had no evidence of the force being disturbed under Chief Foster's regime.

A BOND IS A BOND

The attitude of Premier Maurice Duplessis, of Quebec, on the subject of the compulsory conversion of municipal debts is the right one. He favors voluntary conversion by collaboration between debtors and creditors, but he is opposed to any arbitrary conversion which he believes means confiscation. He will see this does not happen so far as the initiative rests with the Province. Meantime there are plans to put a voluntary conversion scheme into operation affecting the Province's debt. There will be no arbitrary method employed as in Alberta, because Mr. Duplessis has no intention of impairing the credit of Quebec.

It is rattled nerves that have led so many people to take the viewpoint that contractual obligations are not binding. They are, because a bond is a bond, and a contract is a contract. One of the meanest things a man or a group of men can do is to betray the confidence of their fellow-men. Ontario has done this; so has Alberta. The people who stand by their word, as well as by their signatures, are those who preserve their credit and can face the future undismayed. Any other course is immoral, and there should never be any conversion of debt at lower interest rates except by entire agreement on the part of the bondholders. This is the attitude of Quebec as announced by Premier Duplessis. Municipalities can injure the credit of a Province; a Province can injure the credit of the Dominion by repudiation. A Province should have absolute control over municipal finances to the extent that contracts may not be broken. It is full time that there was a legislative check on unethical practices.

A PROGRAMME OF DEFENCE

The acquisition by the Federal Government of the destroyers Cygnet and Crescent from the Admiralty does not constitute any addition to the Navy of this country. These destroyers are to replace the Vancouver and Champlain, which presumably will be broken up, and the implication of the Government's move is an intention to keep the destroyers, which constitute Canada's naval defence forces, up to date. That is a wise move, but it should not be confused with the necessity for a really substantial effort to increase the defensive facilities of the Dominion. In that direction it is not even a first step. It does not mean that there is less of these in America and England than anywhere in the world. So far as America is concerned this was borne out in the results of the latest Presidential election. The candidacy of a Communist proved a joke, creating only a ripple of amusement among the electorate.

One-sixth of the total payments under the National Health Insurance Act in Great Britain is due to the serious affliction of rheumatism. It accounts for one-fourth of the total loss of the community from illness. Health insurance, if it has done nothing else, has engendered a disease complex among the people. Ills, imaginary and otherwise, obsess the minds of those who pay taxes for their cure.

Members Decide at Monthly Gathering to Hold Christmas Dinner

The "Dog Watch" of the local Thermoplas Club is an easily managed affair, but when funds are needed for any particular purpose the "breeches-buoy" is sent around by the supercargo. That was done during the gathering of the "Watch" during the week, when money was wanted to finance the annual Christmas dinner. The "breeches-buoy" returned so heavy the steward and the cook were instructed to make all the necessary preparations.

A story of the captain's in which he related some experiences with a cargo of gunpowder and dynamite brought overboard. The supercargo told about unloading a cargo of dynamite from a Ben Line ship at Yokohama, when a whole sling-load fell into a lighter and nothing happened. Then the cook remembered finding a "in-fish" apparently German, while fishing off the side of the ship shortly after the war. Disturbed, it came to life again, hit the land and exploded, causing great consternation ashore.

An interesting extract from a book of Shipmate Longstaff's regarding the sort of compass used in the Royal Navy about 1820 was read. It showed how little attention was paid to this valuable instrument at the time.

REQUEST LETTER

A letter of request was also read inviting some member or members of the "Watch" to tell the Victoria High School boys of their experiences in sailing as well as in the more modern steamships. Volunteers included Shipmates Kinney, Longstaff and Clark.

Shipmate White told a story of a voyage around Cape Horn to San Francisco; several changes were sung, among them "Rio Grande," "Whisky Johnny" and "A Yankee Ship Came Down the River." A communication from Mrs. Ashorn, widow of Shipmate Ashorn, was read, in which the "Watch" was thanked for a number of thoughtful acts performed by members of the Thermoplas Club during her recent bereavement.

CHAPTER XX
"Why, darling?" Josh dropped beside Suzie's bed. "What's wrong?"
Jinx's chin trembled. Josh gathered her into her arms.
"I-I don't know what the matter with me." The child laid her head on Jocelyn's shoulder, and clung to her, sobbing. "I-I just feel kind of funny. I-I'm so tired, and my leg hurts. My back aches too."
"How long have you been feeling badly, dear?" Josh asked her tenderly.
"I ain't-haven't been feeling very good for a week or more. But I thought I was just kind of not so something. B-but I guess maybe I'm sick."
Josh laid her back on the bed gently, feeling her head.
"You are a little warm, sweet-heart. I think we better have a doctor come in and look you over. Okay?"
Jinx struggled valiantly with her tears. But she seemed willing enough to do as Josh wanted.
"I-I don't want Dr. Mellor. I want Kel. I-I have to have any-body."
"Well," Josh said reluctantly, "Dr. Mellor has always been the family doctor, and he knows all about you. But if you really want Dr. Lowell, I'll call him. He fixed you up pretty well when the car hit you. You're here nice and quiet and I'll be right back."
Jocelyn knocked on the housekeeper's door off the kitchen.
"Something is wrong with Suzie," she told Mrs. Lowell hurriedly.
The older woman nodded grimly.
"I'm sorry, Miss Jocelyn. I told your mother the child hadn't been eating, and seemed tired, several days ago. But your mother thought it was just the heat. I'm not surprised."
Josh winced. "Oh, the poor little thing! I wish I had been home. When Suzie admits she isn't feeling well, she must be really sick."
"That's what I told your mother," the housekeeper put on her apron. Her tone left no doubt about her opinion of Maida Kelvin. "I'd best put some water on to boil and get things ready the doctor might need. If you want me just call. I won't go to bed."
Josh thanked her and ran to the phone. In a few seconds Kel was crooning the street. She met him at the door, and together they hurried upstairs.
Suzie had managed to stop crying, but she was still lying inertly on the bed. She smiled sweetly when Kel bent over her and asked what seemed to be the trouble. Then, listlessly, she told him her symptoms.
"I-I'm just tired and all achy and so hot, and my legs kind of stiff and funny. I-I don't know. Well, we'll just have a look at you, Suzie." Kel took a thermometer from his bag and put it in her mouth. "Now let me see about that leg that aches."
He ran his hands over her swollen leg. Jinx tried not to wince. Josh watched fearfully while he read the thermometer. After a few questions, he sat down and took her pulse. When he palmed her hand affectionately she did not pull away, but took his own big comforting hand in her own.
"I-I'm awful glad you can take care of me," she said pathetically. "I don't like that old Dr. Mellor. Josh explained, trying to hide her terror.
"Every time he comes to see Suzie, he tries to make her stay in bed."

ANNUAL SHOWER IS SUCCESSFUL

Oak Bay Friendly Help Association Given Assistance By Public and Students

The annual food, clothing and cash shower of the Oak Bay Friendly Help Association was held yesterday in the old Oak Bay High School and was termed a marked success by officials of the association.
Although the tabulation of food-stuffs contributed will not be made until Monday, officials stated the returns were well up to standards of previous showers. Some $140 was raised from a tea and cash donations, it was announced. A quantity of clothing was also received. It was said enough food was secured to carry the organization through the greater part of the winter.
Arranged annually by Capt. F. G. Dexter, supervisor of elementary schools in the Oak Bay district, the showers are held to stimulate interest of the children in those less fortunate than themselves. The general public contributed the cash mainly, while the foodstuffs and clothing were donated mostly by the school children. Captain Dexter is given every support in his activity by the staff of teachers in Oak Bay, officials stated.

Tea was served by members of the home economics class. Miss M. E. Blankenbach, director of that class, was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Mrs. W. J. Goepel, honorary president of the association. The flowers were given as a tribute to Miss Blankenbach and her class, who each year donate nearly 100 pounds of jam and a quantity of other foodstuffs, as well as prepared and serve tea for the shower.

Among those at the shower were Rev. R. Taylor and several members of the council and school board.

HAULING ORE FROM HAVILAH

With Completion of Road Albern Mine Starts Shipments of High-Grade

Smelter shipments from the Havilah Gold Mines Ltd., near Albern, will commence within the next two weeks. It was announced by officials of the company yesterday. The first consignment of high-grade ore will comprise about twenty tons and monthly shipments will be maintained throughout the winter, according to announced plans.

Mining operations, it was stated, have proved most satisfactory. The ore body on the Albern vein widening to four feet, and showing increasing richness as the open face work progresses. Values as high as eight ounces to the ton in gold are reported on the hanging wall side of the vein in an eight inch section of enrichment.

Plans call for the advancement of this work at the rate, with a tunnel exploration ahead of the open work. The old McQuillan adit is to be utilized during the winter to cut the Albern vein system at a lower depth than the workings at the face.

NOTING AND SACKING
Already a considerable tonnage of ore has been mined from the open workings and this is at present being sorted and sacked for shipment. The road from the workings has been completed and haulage to the shipping depot at the end of the China Creek Road for motor truck transport to tidewater has already commenced. The road to the Havilah property is described as being an excellent piece of work that will greatly facilitate the development of the mining ground.

Winter accommodation for the miners has been completed and it is officially stated for the maintenance of regular shipments to Tacoma.

Mrs. J. S. Akins was re-elected president of the Liberal Women's Forum at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at the headquarters, Government and Broughton Streets. The other officers were chosen as follows:

Vice-president, Mrs. F. Mitchell; secretary, Mrs. G. Brown; treasurer, Mrs. Blair Reid; corresponding secretary, Mrs. B. Boate; elected to central executive, Mrs. J. L. White and Mrs. A. C. Ross; Forum executive, Mrs. Moffatt, Mrs. Slim, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Carver, Mrs. N. W. Whitaker, Miss Clearhine and Mrs. J. L. White, ex-officio.

YEARS WORK
Mrs. G. Brown told a resume of the activities of the fiscal year ending last month. The study club was reported to be progressing well, social gatherings and meetings had been held, and the club and executive had been entertained by Mrs. G. M. Sloan and also by Mrs. H. M. McGivern. The Forum has now seventy-six members.

The president expressed thanks to Mrs. Sloan and Mrs. McGivern for their hospitality; to Mrs. David Leeming for the gift of flowers, and to the press for publicity. It was announced that a card party would be held in the rooms on Thursday evening, November 26.

The treasurer, Mrs. Blair Reid, reported the receipts amounted to $61.85 and the expenditures, $34.82. While the ballots were being counted, Mrs. Bertucci delighted the members with vocal solos, playing her own accompaniment, and a short sing-song was also enjoyed. A corsage bouquet for Mrs. Akins was presented by little Sheila McGivern, daughter of Major H. M. McGivern.

TRADE SCHOOLS
The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P., her subject being "Trade Schools for Youth." She pointed out the serious situation which has arisen owing to the fact that so many young men had left school at a time when they should have been preparing themselves for the future. They were now without jobs, without education and with no hope of employment. In an effort to deal with the employment situation, the Dominion Government had appointed a special employment commission.

"We shall not see a return of good times until the building trades are restored to pre-depression activity," Mrs. Smith said. It was a fact that many people had given up renovating or building houses during the depression, at the same time spending whatever money they could scrape together to purchase "cars, radios and electric refrigerators."

Plans were being made by the Government to spend $50,000,000 on a housing programme. The first part was an emphasis on repairs and the second on new structures. It was suggested that local committees be appointed in various centres to act as a propaganda

One of Important Activities of Y.W.C.A.

In the above picture Miss Margaret Ryan, girls' work secretary at the Young Women's Christian Association, is shown interviewing two girls about their club programme. Through this club, girls are developed in the art of leadership, and learn as well how to co-operate with others and help each other in a thousand ways. The discussion and interest groups bring girls of all types and classes together under the best possible auspices. The Y.W.C.A. is launching a financial campaign next Monday, the drive to continue for one week under the convener of Mrs. K. H. Angus, and it is timely, therefore, to call attention to a phase of Y.W.C.A. work which is so significant as the girls' work division.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

TREATMENT OF VARICOSE VEINS AND ULCERS

One of the discouraging sights about hospitals just a few years ago was the number of middle-aged and elderly men and women with varicose veins and ulcers. Some of them had been in hospitals for many months. This was before the value of injecting varicose veins was fully known. This simple injection method not only gets rid of these enlarged and thickened veins but helps to clear up the varicose non-healing ulcers so often present.

These varicose conditions are common amongst all classes of the community, and give rise to a large amount of discomfort, pain, and disability, and, on account of the complications of phlebitis, inflammation of the vein, skin infection, and ulceration, lead to a great deal of crippling and ill-health. Experience has shown that the newer methods (injections) are simple, safe, and efficient and that they are capable of preventing the more serious complications of varicose diseases.

At the same time, recent experience has shown that although the greatest credit is due to injection methods, they must be carried out patiently and efficiently, and secondly, that treatment by operation is still required in a small proportion of the cases if the best results are to be obtained.

Dr. Reynold T. Payne, St. Bartholomew's Hospital, London, describes his experience and the methods used in over 1,000 personal cases in The British Medical Journal.

"Unfortunately it is only too true that nothing is known as to the cause of varicose disease, although varicose disorders grow progressively worse." The introduction of the injection method has overshadowed the operation, and but experience has shown that there are definite conditions where operation is still the best method.

Some of the observations made by Dr. Payne are:—
1. A family history of varicose veins was present in 50 per cent of the cases.
2. Varicose diseases are invariably progressive, attack is unusual and natural cure is rare.

3. Operation is the best method of treatment where the veins are of such colossal size that the discomfort and length of time necessary by the injection method is out of the question.
4. Small, recent varicose ulcers heal quite rapidly with injection of the vein and the application of a calamine dressing to the ulcer. Larger and older ulcers with hard swollen tissue surrounding them respond rapidly to injection treatment combined with use of elastic plaster. The injections should be carried out as frequently as possible at the time when the elastoplast is changed.

Railway Surveyor—The company wants to run a line through here. Farmer Giles: What! Through my big barn?
Surveyor—Yes.
Farmer Giles—Ah well; they can't have a better sitting place than my big barn.
A teacher of English was discussing with his pupils the subject of compliments, complimentary and uncomplimentary.
Now, said he, "If some one complimented me with a great Greek expression, would the compliment be complimentary or not?"
"It would be an insult, sir," piped a small boy.
"Don't be silly," said the master. "I should feel quite complimented."
"But," replied the boy, naively, "I wasn't thinking of you, sir."

"Immortals" To Be Theme Of Teaching

"Mortals and Immortals" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon, in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. The golden text will be: "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit that we are the children of God" (Romans viii, 13, 16).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And we know that this Son of God is come, and hath given us understanding that we may know Him that is true, and we are in Him that is true, even in His Son, Jesus Christ. This is the true God and eternal life" (I John v, 20).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The conceptions of mortal, erring thought must give way to the ideal of all that is perfect and eternal. Through many generations human beliefs have been attaining diviner conceptions, and the immortal and perfect model of God's creation will finally be seen as the only true conception of being."

The special music at the morning service is a solo "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" (Hope), by Mrs. L. Baicheier, and an anthem, "Hymn to the Trinity" (Tchaikovsky), by the choir. In the evening Robert Husband will sing "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte), and the choir will render the anthem "The Splendours of Thy Glory, Lord" (Woodward).

"The Touchstone of Friendship" will be the morning subject at Fairfield United tomorrow. At the evening service, Rev. Richmond Craig will continue his series of sermons on "The Maker of Men," the topic selected dealing with "The Challenge to Money."

RESERVE SQUATTERS GRANTED EXTENSION

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—A. S. Tyler, British Columbia Government agent here, today received notice from Newman Taylor, superintendent of lands at Victoria, that an extension to March 31, 1937, had been granted Kitchikan Indian Reserve squatters.

Several weeks ago the squatters were served eviction notices, which gave them until November 15 to vacate their shacks on the reserve.

SEEK TOYS FOR NEEDY KIDDIES

Boy Scouts Will Open Repair Shop This Morning at 1034 Johnson Street

Established in their new toy repair shop, the Boy Scouts, under the direction of William R. Barsley, will commence repairing toys this morning. Unable to secure a location in the city, the committee took over the Scout Building, 1034 Johnson Street, and spent Thursday evening fitting it out as a suitable workshop.

Here, the Boy Scouts in their spare hours will voluntarily play the part of Santa Claus for the children of the unemployed. Broken cars, dolls with slightly battered faces, miniature engines that have long since ceased to chug, in fact, toys of every description, will pass through the clever hands of the young workers. A new wheel here, some minor repairs there or a bright new red paint job will transform some cast-off plaything into an article that will provide hours of fun and entertainment for some needy little tot.

SUPPORT ASKED

Although the drive for toys opened last Monday, to date little response has been received. It is still some time until Christmas, but the public is, nevertheless, asked to give its complete support to this very worthy cause.

WILL COLLECT ARTICLES

If it is not convenient to leave toys or articles of clothing at the headquarters, the Scouts will gladly call and collect them, if donors will phone G 4332, G 3296 or G 6994. The shop will be open every afternoon and evening, with the exception of Sunday, from 2 o'clock until 9 o'clock.

WITHHOLD DATA ON TRAVEL COST

Opposition Fails to Learn How Much Money Expended by Ministers on Trips

Efforts on the part of Rolf W. Bruhn, member for Salmon Arm, to ascertain the amount of money expended by Premier Pattullo on his trips to Eastern Canada, throughout the province and to the Yukon, did not meet with much success in the Legislature yesterday.

AIR, SEA AND LAND

"The Hon. the Premier made various trips both within and without the confines of the province, accompanied by secretary only, except a trip around Vancouver Island, when an additional passenger was taken. These trips were made by rail, air, motor and water transport. Expenses of such trips will appear in public accounts in due course."

Similar replies have been given to other questions asked during the session as to the traveling expenses of Cabinet members. As the next session of the Legislature will not be held until the Fall of 1937, the amounts expended to next March 31 will not be made public until that time.

MUSICAL HIT IS AT THE CAPITOL

Jack Benny Plays Leading Role in "The Big Broadcast of 1937"

A dozen big time radio entertainers in addition to a strong line-up of screen and stage talent has been assembled to make "The Big Broadcast of 1937," which begins today at the Capitol Theatre, the most lavish production of its kind.

With Jack Benny, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Bob Burns, Max and Ray, Benny Goodman and his Swing Orchestra, and Leopold Stokowski and his Symphony Orchestra heading the list of radio headliners, and Shirley Ross, Ray Milland, Frank Forest, Eugene Pallette, Dick Foran, Carol Hughes, Catharine Doucet, Craig Reynolds and Henry O'Neill.

beautiful spy whom Powell had to doom to her death.

PLAZA—"The Golden Arrow," a hilarious comedy romance. Besides Bette Davis, the Academy Award winner for 1935, and George Brent, the cast includes Eugene Pallette, Dick Foran, Carol Hughes, Catharine Doucet, Craig Reynolds and Henry O'Neill.

ATLAS—Warner Baxter's performance in "The Road to Glory," showing for the last time today at the Atlas Theatre, is one of the outstanding highlights of the film. June Lang and Gregory Ratoff head the supporting cast of the picture, which was written for the screen by Joel Sayre and William Faulkner.

COLUMBIA—"Powersmoke Range," on the screen for the last time today at the Columbia Theatre, is a virile outdoor action drama of the early cattle country. Harry Carey and Hoot Gibson head the stellar array, with other stars of the straight shooting screen as Clint "Big Boy" Williams, Bob Steele, Tom Tyler and Frank Rice.

DOMINION—"Old Hutch," now showing at the Dominion Theatre, is the story of the man who is known in every town in America. Wallace Beery has the title role and symbolizes the quiet acceptance of fate and in the last analysis, the fiery individual who, when driven to fight, does it with his whole soul, his strong body and two good fists.

OAK BAY—"Rendezvous," starring William Powell, and showing for the last time today at the Oak Bay Theatre, is one of the most mystifying of the motion pictures. It brings lovely Rosalind Russell in her first leading role opposite Powell, and gorgeous Blaine Barnes as the

WELTER FIGHT IS IN DOUBT

Ross-Jannazzo Bout May Not Be Held in New York Ring November 27

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP).—There was a possibility tonight that Ross and Izzy Jannazzo will not clash for the world welterweight title in Madison Square Garden on November 27.

Everything hinges on whether Sam Plan, Ross' manager, will sign an agreement guaranteeing a title shot to Cefarino Garcia within sixty days after the Jannazzo fight. If the Chicagoan successfully defends his title.

If Plan refuses, the New York State Athletic Commission threatens to cancel the November 27 bout and order Jannazzo and Garcia rematched, the winner to be sent against Ross.

Plan refused to sign the agreement today. He said he is entirely willing for Ross to fight Garcia sixty days from the Jannazzo bout, provided Barry wins and comes through without injury, but he will not sign until he has arranged satisfactory terms for Ross. The commission gave Plan until next Wednesday to make up his mind.

ARMY MEETS NOTRE DAME TEAM TODAY

Close to 80,000 Expected to See Big Game—Huskies To Tackle Trojans

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP).—Besides furnishing the two finest inter-sectional matches of the season, Nebraska-Pittsburgh at Lincoln and Albany-Notre Dame at New York tomorrow's United States collegiate football jamboree may indicate whether some of the lately distributed laurel wreaths have been intervened with a few sprigs of poison ivy.

Northwestern, current No. 1 team and Big Ten champion, "fears Michigan." While Fordham takes time out in the Rose Bowl debate, Alabama's crimson tide is threatened by Georgia Tech. Washington's Huskies, top entry on the West Coast, face the challenge of Southern California's Trojans, with anything likely to happen.

BIG ATTENDANCE
—Adding impetus to new attendance records for the season, upwards of 80,000 will jam the Yankee Stadium to see the Irish of Notre Dame meet their annual and consistently spectacular joint with West Point. At Lincoln, a capacity throng of 35,500 will watch Nebraska and Pitt battle.

Against a background of tradition Yale goes tiger-hunting at Princeton, before close to 40,000 in Palmer Stadium. Duke and North Carolina play for the Southern Conference title at Chapel Hill.

HUSKIES FACE TROJANS
SEATTLE, Nov. 13 (AP).—The Pacific Coast Conference football championship and the western representative for the New Year's Rose Bowl game may be decided here tomorrow when the Southern California Trojans and the University of Washington Huskies clash in one of the nation's most important grid battles.

At least the same will go a long way toward deciding the issue. Washington is leading the league with no losses and one tie, and Southern California and Washington State College are close behind with a tie and a defeat apiece. So the victor will go high hopes of the Rose Bowl bid.

Washington, because of its record of five straight victories, is expected to skid to a tie with Stanford last Saturday, was a 10 to 6 favorite here.

Close to 30,000 fans held tickets to the victory will see the struggle. A dry field was promised by the weatherman, who predicted fog in the morning, and possibly sunshine in the afternoon.

CARDINALS WIN
Cardinals took the Units into camp in the second quarter to the tune of a 30-14 victory. The winners established a 21-6 advantage before the half-time breather and edged nine points in the final half. They lost two players on personal fouls and were forced to play the last eight minutes of the game with four players.

Hudson's Bay men's senior "C" defending champions, defeated Ray's, 31-15, in the curtain-raiser. The winners led, 15-5, at the rest interval.

Queens Winning From Varsity Squad

Slashing through the mud in Kingston to whip University of Toronto by a 6-1 score in a game that featured straight football, Queen's University forced a three-way tie in the senior Inter-Collegiate Rugby standings. Westerns whipped McGill to a 7-0 victory. An unexpected touchdown that mudders than the Varsity Blues. One of the Blue ball carriers is coming to grief in the mud (top), after sidestepping one Tri-Color tackler, and plunging almost into the waiting arms of big Harry Sunshine and a Queen's teammate. Lower picture shows the Tri-Color away on a yard gaining and run that carried the ball into scoring position just outside the Blue goal stripe.

Louie Callan to Referee Canadian Championship Go
LOUIE Callan, popular matchmaker and referee of the Victoria Athletic Club, was yesterday named as the third man in the ring for the Sonny Buxton-Danny Fowl, ten-round Canadian heavy-weight championship mix, on Wednesday, November 18, at 8:30 o'clock. Callan, former British Columbia amateur titleholder, will handle the main event and the semi-wind-up.

MERCHANTS IN EASY TRIUMPH
Hoyle-Brown Cagers Whip Jennings Florists, 57-10—Cardinals, Bays Win

Piling up a 17-0 lead in the initial stanza and dropping home forty points toward the end, the Merchants were scoring ten, Hoyle-Brown's men's senior "B" hoopers snatched Jennings Florists under a 57-10 score yesterday evening at the Victoria High School gymnasium.

It took the florists twenty-three minutes to score their first points, Ellis finding the hoop from just outside the blue line. They added four more field goals before the final whistle.

Les Bradley, Lloyd Jones, Jack Caddell and Pete Campbell, veteran cagers, had a great time in the second half and ran through the opposing squad practically at will.

SCORES QUICK KAYO OVER PANAMA BOXER IN MADISON SQUARE

World's Bantamweight Champion Ends Scheduled Fifteen-Round Bout in One Minute and Thirty-Five Seconds—Fist Fights Break Out in Galleries and Police Use Their Clubs

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP).—Sixty all by Escobar. After a brief flurry of close-range fighting, Escobar set himself and fired a right to the head. It was a bit rich. He belted the Indian with a second and this one connected, partially dazing Quintana. Before Quintana could recover his wits, Escobar flew at him with another terrific blow, flush to the jaw. Quintana went down like a shot. He had to be half-carried, half-dragged to his corner.

GREAT BATTLE
The best fight of the evening saw Enrico Ventura, a shy Italian lightweight, cut loose with a savage two-fisted attack to arm back Frankie Kiek, veteran San Francisco champion, in the ten-round semi-final.

Escobar was generally picked to win and went into the ring a 7-to-5 favorite, but the speed with which he dispatched Quintana to dreamland took the fans by surprise. Inasmuch as the Panama battler decisively defeated Escobar in an earlier weight encounter last summer.

Only three good licks were tossed, Ventura weighed 136-4 and Kiek 132-4.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
Where the English flag never comes down. The ruined palace of the Residence at Lucknow, India is hollow ground, being a center of the "hollow" in British history. Here a handful of British men held out against 10,000 rebels in the Indian Mutiny of 1857. The British tend this memorial with great reverence. The old grey tower, flies the British flag day and night. This is the only spot in the British Empire where it is never furled, nor is it ever lowered to half-mast. It yields to nothing and nobody in honoring heroic deeds.

Fox now in his eighty-first year was licensed to preach in 1886, and since that time has conducted the funerals of five generations of the Upberger family of West Virginia. # HAMILTON FACES OTTAWA IN TODAY'S FEATURE

Tigers Prepared For Tussle With The Roughriders

Veteran Frank Turville Returns to Game With Hopes of Helping Hamilton to Victory—Other Important Matches Set—Regina's Case Rests With Canadian Union Officials

By ELMER DOLAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, Nov. 13 (C.P.)—Attorney Frank Turville, an old University of Western Ontario Mustang, who was popularly supposed to have made his last gridiron kick in December, 1933, will rally Hamilton's football forces tomorrow in Ottawa for the highlight game of the Canadian week-end programme.

If he succeeds in a daring comeback to the Big Four war, in which he starred for years, Hamilton may overcome the youthful eager Roughriders in the sudden-death game and advance to the final play-off against Toronto Argonauts. If he fails—and he might after only five days' strict training—the Tigers face defeat.

Turville, lanky and fleet, once the equal of any punter in Canada, equal of any broken-field runner, deadly place-kicker, will carry the Tiger destiny literally in one hand when he sets out around the ends. Blessed with big hands, he scorns to tuck the pigskin under his arm.

PLAY-OFF MEETINGS
Play-off berths are at stake in the Inter-Collegiate Union when University of Toronto and Western, of London, Ont., meet in Toronto, and Queen's, of Kingston, move into Montreal faced with the necessity of whipping McGill.

The O.R.U. alone is without a feature. Toronto Balm Beach will engage and tounce the Cubs in Hamilton, thus qualifying to play Samia Imperialis for the title following Saturday. The Cubs, without a victory in more than two years, are expected to offer feeble opposition.

A crowd of more than 15,000 is indicated for the Western-Varsity skirmish. Two brilliant forward-pass units match thrusts here, with the winner qualified for the play-off between teams finished first and second in the standing. Queen's is expected to "uprise the other play-off place by losing McGill.

RENTS TO OFFICIALS
SASKATOON, Nov. 13 (C.P.)—Whether Regina Roughriders get a crack at the Canadian football championship, with Coach Dean Griffing and four other ineligible United States players on the life-up, rested, sought with the Canadian Rugby Union executive. There seemed no chance for the Western champions.

A few hours after the CRU president, Prof. E. A. Hardy, of Saskatoon, recommended suspension of the residence rule to permit Regina's powerhouse to go East at full strength. It was written pretty plainly that Eastern members of the executive were opposed.

John Bannerman, of Calgary, Western representative on the executive, supported Professor Hardy's recommendation. "I have replied that I felt Regina's claim to use all five players should be considered," Bannerman said. "I am prepared to support the Roughriders' claim."

WICKETS DROP IN FAST ORDER

Marylebone Takes Five of Them for 67 Runs Against New South Wales

SYDNEY, Nov. 13 (C.P.)—A late afternoon bowling onslaught that spread-eagled seven New South Wales wickets for 67 runs, halted a dangerous first-inning drive in the initial day of the four-day cricket match with the visiting Marylebone Cricket Club. When stumps were drawn the home team was all out for 273 runs while M.C.C. scored one run without loss in a few minutes at the wicket.

Walter Hammond, Gloucestershire star, bowled with success, taking five wickets for 39 runs. New South Wales smashed the offerings of the English trundlers before the tea interval, compiling 206 runs for three wickets.

A. A. Ames, Kent wicketkeeper, played up to his old form, showing no signs of recent back trouble. Approximately 10,000 persons turned out in fine, sunny weather.

RUGBY NOTES

By OBSERVER

Last Saturday's game between the Bays and Scottish was notable for the "Talus" of the Bays to show that overwhelming good form expected by many after the various reports had pointed to an easy victory of the Bays over the Highlanders.

As predicted earlier last week, it was clearly the Scottish forwards against a better half-back and three-quarter line. Except for the two tries scored in the second half the Bays were much the better team. In fact, had Fleming not been playing in this game, the Bays would have looked a very ordinary lot.

However, the Bays deserved to win, because having failed completely to dominate the play in the first half, decided to gamble in the second half and make practically all their plans around Fleming, their centre three-quarter. It was a good gamble in this case. The Scottish defence being weak, Fleming had little difficulty in piercing it, on two occasions, once when he scored a very fine try, and later when he gave his wing—Burton—the first opportunity to see how fast he could go all out, and score what was the best try of the game.

These two tries were well earned, but apart from that, the Bays had less of the play than the Scottish. Had the Scottish forwards more finished plays, the result might easily have been different. They made a mistake when they changed their game in the second half. Fleming had—even with a weak defence—been well held in the first half.

HALFET LOOKED GOOD
Halfet again played a very good game, and repeatedly was in position to take the ball from any too hard kicked by the Scottish forwards.

"Stripe", while not so fast as formerly, is still the most reliable half-back in the league.

In the intermediate section it was not expected that either the Navy or the College would lose by so many points. A reconstructed Scottish fifteen played a really great game, though it must be remembered that the Navy had only fourteen men throughout the game.

The Wanderers were much the better team against College, even though the College players put up a very hard fight. Only twice did the College fifteen come near scoring during the game.

The Cowichan players put up a good fight to win from the Navy "B" fifteen by a very close margin. This cup series looks as though they are going to be keenly contested.

The Lieutenant-Governor's Cup game at Macdonald Park on Armistice Day was very good. The Fifth were favorites to win, but the Scottish, so vastly improved in their game, surprised the gunners and dominated the game throughout. It was a meritorious win for the Scots.

The Fifth players are capable of playing better than they did, but in this game they were beaten in every department of play. Incidentally, the refereeing by Sweetman was very good.

WEAK TEAMS DOMINATE
In the Scottish-Bays game it was rather surprising to find the Bays allowing the Scottish to dominate the game so early. The same thing happened in the game between the Scottish and the Fifth in the Armistice Day game. The better teams do not often allow weaker teams to dominate play as a rule. It was rather strange why the favorites failed to open up early in the game. It may have been the favorites thought they had the game "on ice" before they started. If so, they have had a rude reminder that early domination of the game is all important.

The art of calling the tune is a necessary qualification for the captains of any team, whether Rugby, soccer, or any kind of game, but it is all-important in Rugby.

It may be taken for granted that every Rugby football team has strong points and weak points—great players and mediocre players, who differ considerably in individual capacity. The object of every captain should be to know how the strong points and the effective players are brought into action as frequently as possible, and that play is diverted from the shaky players, and confined as far as possible to those aspects of play in which the team do really well.

One of the finest qualities a Rugby captain can possess is the power to recognize where his own team is strong and weak, and to think out ways by which the strength can be used and the weak protected. Coaches should let their captains manage the team on the field, and not divert their attention for instructions from the side lines, as is frequently done in this part of the world. To one who has always been interested in the game, it seems ridiculous for players to look to the side lines rather than to their captain for instructions. Give the captain full control on the field. You will in the end get better results.

SHOW CAPACITY
In some cases captains show really amazing capacity to compel opponents to dance to their tune, and it is worth while for captains to consider how, for the advantage of their teams, it is possible to dictate policy to their opponents.

First of all, it is necessary for the captain to have a perfectly clear idea as to what the players under his command are capable of doing. He should know his players through and through, individually and as a combination.

If it is the case of the forwards being magnificent and the backs poor, or the backs being brilliant and the forwards weak, the captain will set himself by individual thought and team conference to work out a scheme by which he can escape the consequences of his weakness and use his strength to the full. In the same way he will consider the strength of his opponents, and try to play away from strength and on the weakness. The Bays did this on Saturday last.

Let us first take a captain who has a strong wing and a weak wing. If the object is to use the strong wing, the captain should see that his forwards take the loose head on the side which will enable the halves to pass out to the strong wing. If this play is on the left side, the ball should be put in the scrum on the right-hand side, which enables the inside half, if his forwards heel, to field and send the ball out, without loss of time, towards the left.

If the right wing is the strong player who ought to be fed to the left, the loose head should be taken on the left. The choice of the loose head works in the effort to limit the possibilities of opposing backs.

POSSIBLE TO BLUFF
Watchful to prevent strong opponents from playing to their full strength. It is sometimes possible to bluff a team into taking the short line though the long line suits them. There is another case in which by unconscious suggestion a team can limit the effectiveness of their opponents. Take the case of the four slow three-quarters Scottish against the fast Bays. The Bays, by playing better than they did, but in this game they were beaten in every department of play. Incidentally, the refereeing by Sweetman was very good.

Security Prices Close Lower at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP).—Further rough weather was encountered by the stock market today and many recent leaders were shaken down for losses of fractions to 2 points and a few more. A smattering of specialties, including merchandising and amusement issues, managed to weather the gale, but most of these were barely hanging on the rail at the close.

Transfers totaled 2,482,250 shares against 2,581,710 yesterday.

A few aircrafts and rail equipments were buoyed by prospects of growing orders.

Rails dipped with motors, steel and mines, but were no worse, although last week's freight loadings were off more than seasonally.

Among losers were General Motors 7 1/2, United States Steel 7 1/2, Bethlehem 7 1/2, General Electric 5 1/2, Kennecott 5 1/2, Anacosta 5 1/2, New York Central 4 3/4, General Northern 3 1/2, Union Pacific 3 1/2, Southern Pacific 4 1/2, International Harvester 3 1/2, American Telephone 1 1/2, and Standard Oil of New Jersey 6 1/2.

Celanese dropped 1 1/2 at 27 1/2, following a strike of 9,000 workers at the company's main plant.

Buying activities diminished in most sections of the bond market, and prices closed a bit lower.

Treasury 4 1/2 of 1952 added 1/4 at 120 1/2. Other changes were equally divided between minor gains and losses.

In the foreign list French bonds were erratic. Italian bonds sold off fractions to 1 1/2.

WHEAT PRICES GAIN SLIGHTLY

Unfavorable Argentine Crop Reports Lift Futures at Winnipeg Markets

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13 (AP).—Reports of unfavorable growing conditions for Argentine wheat resulted in fractionally improved prices for Canadian varieties today.

Added also by improved foreign demand, futures prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed a quiet session 1-4 to 1-2 cent higher. November at $1.07 3-4, December at $1.05 1-4, May at $1.06 3-4 and July at $1.05.

Buying of 400,000 bushels for export, coupled with short covering prompted by reports of frost in parts of Argentina held prices above the previous close throughout the day. Selling never was oppressive.

Liverpool closed 1-4d higher, while points of nearby wheat were held at Buenos Aires. Chicago was up 3-4 cent.

Lightness of offerings restricted operations in the cash grain section, where spreads held firm. Steadiness ruled in coarse grains with trading slow.

BLARNEY

A rove by any other name smells just as sweet, and blarney—the Celtic flattery, the praise that alms-but to self-profit—however disguised has from time immemorial softened up the toughest.

We heard or read somewhere that man who blarney a woman hopes either to find or to make her a fool; we have ever since believed that this thought it was that motivated Mary, Queen of Scots, to the synchism.

"Talk not to me of the wisdom of men—I know my own sex well, the wisest of us all are but little less foolish than the rest."

As Eve would do well to heed the Biblical injunction and "Meditate xix with him" who, having kissed the "fabled Blarney Stone" at Blarney Castle, Ireland, from which hangs this tale, has thereby become endowed with experience in the art of cajolery.

"I AMY, Dad," said the small boy "how many kinds of milk are there?"

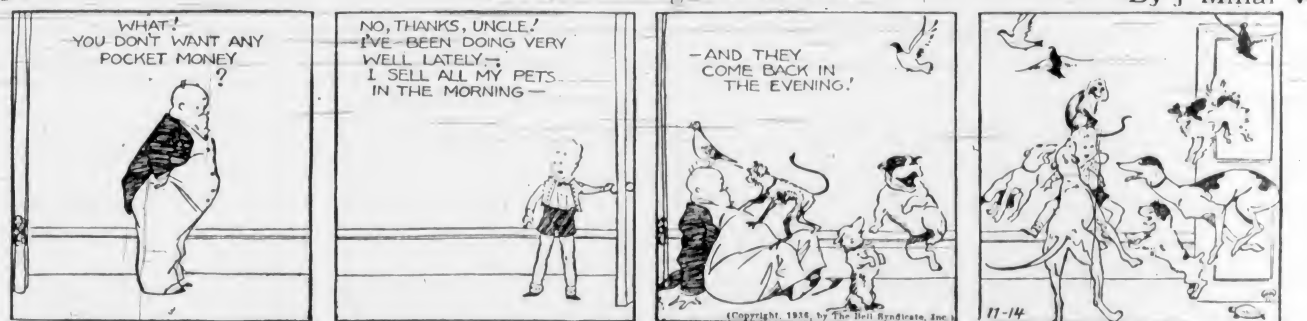

"Well," replied his parent, "there's ordinary milk, evaporated milk, buttermilk, malted milk, and—but why do you want to know?"

"Oh, I'm drawing a picture of a cow and I want to know how many spigots to put on her."
